

Anatomy of a Belle Glade tragedy

By DAVID T. EVANS

I thought I knew Wayne Callender. I did until drugs and the devil took over his mind and actions. The Palm Beach papers and the Miami Herald said Wayne had skidded he was on drugs. I haven't seen Wayne since his alleged violent criminal acts. Yet I had seen and talked with him at least once a week for six months. Yes, I knew Wayne Callender.

As most everyone in the Glades knows, Wayne worked around the Everglades Presbyterian Church during the last six months. Why did the pastor or the church allow such a person to stay and even sleep at the church? Let's start at the beginning.

At a meeting, I was among a group asked if anyone knew of work available for a young man from Barbados. Yes, he spoke English. I had been trying to get the floors of the education building at the church cleaned. I said yes. I can use him.

Jack Scanlan, the resident of the Katherine Price Foundation house, brought Wayne by my home one afternoon late. I asked if he could trim shrubbery (this was also needed and I wanted to see how well he could work.) The answer was yes. "Come in the morning at 8 o'clock," was my answer.

Wayne worked well and did a good job. After two days of trimming and raking, he began scrubbing the floors of the education building. He scrubbed all the floors and waxed them. In fact he scrubbed so hard he wore nearly all the bristles off the brush. He was paid partly by the church and partly by myself.

During this time, he came to my home door late and cold one night saying he had been locked out of where he had been staying. He asked if he could stay at the church. I couldn't turn him away anymore than I could have turned away anyone who has come to my

Grand Jury indicts man

The Palm Beach County Grand Jury returned indictments against Wayne Callender Friday, Aug. 14, for murder, burglary, and robbery.

The indictments center around the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Curtis Williams Wednesday, Aug. 5.

The Belle Glade couple was shot to death in their sleep at their 101 N. W. Ave. 1 home.

Callender is a 23-year-old illegal alien from Barbados, who was arrested Tuesday, Aug. 11, by Patrolman Jack Fulsch of the Belle Glade Police Department. The arrest followed an intensive investigation by local law enforcement authorities.

Late Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 13, an employee of the Clerk of Circuit Court office in West Palm Beach said that a trial date has not been set in the case. Callender is to be represented by the Public Defender's Office.

In a bizarre twist, Callender has allegedly told investigators he killed the Belle Glade couple while on a mission for the devil.

Fire started in a bedroom closet where paint was stored, bringing out the Belle Glade Fire Department about 8:57 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 18. The house, located at 1306 N. Main St., was unoccupied and there were no injuries. Estimate of damages had not been completed Tuesday at noon. The house belongs to Thomas O. Baker.

Dennis menaces seeding project

By AILSA DEWING

Planes seeding clouds over Lake Okechobee were grounded this week by the threat of gale winds accompanying tropical storm Dennis.

Operations were suspended Saturday and seeding was to be discontinued until Dennis had passed over the continental U.S., a spokesman for the South Florida Water Management District said.

It was the first time since seeding began Aug. 4 that the seeding activities have been interrupted. The time lost is considered "down time" and will not be made up at the end of the project period, according to the SFWM public information office.

Between Saturday and Tuesday the lake has risen from 9.95 to 10.49 inches but this was due to rainfall at the south end of the lake. There was no significant amount of rain north of the lake, SFWM reported.

The amount of rainfall in the Kissimmee Basin seeding isn't known. SFWM said it's not possible to tell how much rainfall is due to seeding. How much would have fallen normally. The seeding area covers 5,000 square miles and the readings from 200 gauges located around the basin will not be totally tallied until the seeding project ends, SFWM said.

Briefly

Bad checks passed

Glades area merchants, particularly grocery store operators are asked to be on the look out for persons trying to cash checks drawn on the accounts of Young Roofing Repairs of Pahokee and Belvedere Scrap Iron and Auto Parts, Inc., of West Palm Beach.

Det. Steve Haller with the Palm Beach County Sheriff Department said both of the accounts are closed. Haller said an undetermined amount of checks are being circulated in the area.

Haller said the Young Roofing Repairs account has been closed for over two years.

The checks are being signed with the signature W.C. Young, for the Young Roofing Repairs account and Alvin M. Banks, for the Belvedere Scrap Iron and Auto Parts account.

If someone attempts to pass one of the checks, merchants are asked to contact Det. Haller at the Glades sub office of the Palm Beach County Sheriff Department at 996-4141.

Farm ID program

Hendry, Glades and Palm Beach County Sheriffs Departments, assisted by the Florida Sugar Cane League, have designed a property identification program to demonstrate improved methods of securing farming equipment and materials from theft.

The program, which will give an up-to-date report on the scope of agricultural crime in the Glades area, will be held Wednesday, Aug. 26, from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the Belle Glade Holiday Inn.

All persons concerned about agriculture property loss are invited to attend the free conference.

Goforth qualifies for election

BELLE GLADE - George C. Goforth, Jr., of 2248 E. Palm Beach Rd. S., a political newcomer threw his hat into the ring Monday in a bid for the City of Belle Glade East Borough City Commission seat.

A life-long resident of Belle Glade and owner of G&G Radiator Shop, Goforth filed Monday to run against incumbent Dorothy Walker and Iz Nachman.

Although he has no axe to grind with the incumbent, Goforth said he has been less than satisfied with the representation of Commissioner Walker. Many other residents he has talked with share this feeling, he said.

Goforth, married and father of three said he had thoughts about running for the city commission in the 1979 election, but was pleased with the work of then East Borough Commissioner Kenneth Harris, who was defeated by Ms. Walker.

Goforth said one of his main objectives if elected will be to keep an open mind and attend to the business of the entire city instead of one particular area.

He also said one of his main concerns is the cost of providing services to the residents and other expenditures by the city. He said this should also be a top issue with the commission.

"I'm not saying we can cut costs, but I'm interested in looking at how we spend money, he said.

"I'm no politician," said Goforth, "just a citizen interested in the well being of the city," he added.

Would be candidates have until Wednesday, Aug. 26 to file for the three commission seats up for grabs. So far in the West Borough, William Grear and Robert Jones have filed to oppose each other.

Incumbent Commissioner Claude Tindall and Racer Parrish have filed to run in the North Borough.

The election will be held Tuesday, Sept. 15 at the Belle Glade Fire Department.

Garbage transfer station could explode

By SCOTT ELLIS

BELLE GLADE - An engineer says the city's new garbage transfer station, now under construction, could explode due to a methane gas build-up unless design changes are made.

Solid Waste Authority Engineer Charles Anderson of Barker, Osha and Anderson warned of the possible garbage blow-up at the authority's Budget and Policy Committee meeting Monday night.

The station, originally due to be completed last October, is still not finished due to numerous delays. Anderson brought up the latest problem, saying the structure could blow-up due to the buildup of explosive gases inside the building.

Gas vents are being installed in the landfill's new building by its contractor, Bill Acree, but both Anderson and authority Director Tim Hunt said that may not be enough.

Hunt and Anderson think an exhaust fan is necessary to blow out the gases and prevent an explosive buildup. The garbage transfer station is being designed as a loading area for trucks that will haul the refuse to another landfill. According to Hunt, the contractor has not yet taken action on the problem.

Garbage and trash has been used as fill in the cells of the building, Anderson said he thought the trash would be removed and replaced with sand. Some sand has been put in, but only part of the trash has been taken out.

"It's hard to ascertain just how much hydrogen gas will build up," Anderson said. "And I can't tell you definitely that it will explode or not... It may never happen."

"But it is a substantial safety hazard. It might blow some of the (concrete) block out. But if you design a better plan...if you don't let the gas build up, then you don't have a problem."

The cost of installing a fan would be about $400, Hunt said. He added that the designer is examining the problem.

About two-thirds of the structure is finished.

Remar Harvin named director of development and planning

BELLE GLADE—Remar Harvin was named director of Planning and Community Development for the City of Belle Glade Aug. 1.

Harvin, previously the city's Community Development Director, assumed the additional planning responsibility after Joe Fay resigned as planning director to enter law school.

The consolidation of the two posts is scheduled to become effective Oct. 1.

"I think it is an excellent idea. It affords me with a complete picture of the development of the city," said Harvin.

Harvin, who in the past has worked with public housing, says: "We don't always know what the private sector is doing and what their problems are."

Combining the two departments provides a better overview of city development, he said.

One of the benefits of combining the departments is that one office now has inspectors for enforcing city codes, and the know-how for obtaining grants to improve housing, he said.

The city has placed its emphasis on rehabilitation of housing. Sixty-one units have been brought up to standard. In addition, six CBS houses are now being completed on homeowners' lots at a cost of approximately $20,000 each.

The homeowner has a choice, Harvin says. "Some homes cannot be brought up to standard, but we can give you a new house."

An interim assistance program has been started, which allows the department to go outside the Belle Glade target area to provide housing improvement assistance. Up to $2,500 can be spent on a housing unit under this program.

Harvin says that one of the problems facing Belle Glade is the Department of Housing and Urban Development's funding formula, based on population.

The city originally qualified for $447,000 under the formula, a sum which goes a limited way toward correcting Belle Glade's housing ills.

Harvin said that he would like to see Palm Beach County and the City of Belle Glade sign an inter-local agreement for housing. By joining with the county, the city could receive more housing assistance than through the small cities program, he said.

The new department's staff will be cut from 12 to five employees by Oct. 1.

REMAR HARVIN

One of the activities the staff will assume is a block-by-block code enforcement program. The program will follow a "census track." There will be no arbitrary selection of houses, he said.

Harvin has been with the City of Belle Glade since 1977. Prior to that, he had been with the City of Sarasota since 1968, where he had been involved with planning and community development.

He was born in Crescent City, served in the U. S. Air Force, earned a bachelors degree in political science and administration from the University of South Florida and a masters degree in management and public service from Nova University.

He has been nominated for vice president of the Florida Community Development Association.

Chief Judge visits Glades office

Chief Judge Lewis Kapner of the 15th Judicial Circuit visited the Glades area Friday, Aug. 14, to look over local judicial and jail facilities.

Kapner was elected chief judge for the 15th Circuit July 1 and will serve a two year term.

He toured local facilities with County Judge Don T. Adams.

"Historically, we have had very little problem with the operation of the office in the Glades. It is a very smooth running operation, Kapner said.

Adams responded that he receives plenty of cooperation from local law enforcement departments and the state attorney's office.

Kapner said one of the things he wanted to look into was getting more help for Judge Adams. Kapner planned to assist personally Friday, by handling several Baker Act (mental health) cases.

Another fulltime judge wouldn't be assigned to the Glades, but there is a possibility that Adams could receive some part-time help, Kapner said.

One area of assistance could be for support cases, Kapner said. He called support cases pending before the court a heavy workload.

Kapner addressed an area of recent controversy in the Glades, school truancy, and said that it is an area lacking in consistency in some schools.

When a student accumulates 160 missed days, he is already a lost cause, Kapner said. "He would flunk out anyway."

Truancy problems need to be addressed at the start. If truancy enforcement is haphazard, "you can forget about it," he said.

The Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services cannot do much about a child's truancy if they don't know about it, he said.

The courts can more effectively deal with the problem if HRS and school boards have a constant policy for dealing with truancy, he said.

Judge Adams said that he believes HRS is trying to improve the truancy problem, and called any constructive efforts "commendable."

CHIEF JUDGE LEWIS KAPNER visited County Judge Don Adams in Belle Glade Friday, April 14, to look over local facilities.

Saving dough with Holsum

By SCOTT ELLIS

In 1974, Belle Glade's old Holsum Bakery Thrift Store closed. According to Manager Wayne Boswell, the company didn't think a bread thrift store could be profitable here anymore.

After an apparent change of heart, a new Holsum Thrift Store opened in February, stocked full of all the items the old store on Main Street used to carry, plus a lot more.

After being located at 309 S. Main (where Lively Enterprises is now) for about 20 years, Holsum moved into its new location in 1974, minus its thrift store. It kept its distribution center going though.

Boswell, born in Pahokee in 1949, and a Vietnam War Army veteran, has managed the business for 11 years. His top assistant, Jim West, has been with Holsum for 10 years.

Others working at the store include Norman Swearington, Joe McCormick, Jackie Hughes and Donna Boyd.

The thrift store specializes in selling two- to three-day-old bread at sharply reduced prices. This accomplishes two things, Boswell said—it enables the company to clear its inventories of older product and lets the consumer reap savings.

The store grabbed an honor in spring when it received the Beautification Award from the Chamber of Commerce.

Holsum's home office is in Miami. It has stores from Vero Beach to the Florida Keys.

Saving dough with Holsum

By SCOTT ELLIS

In 1974, Belle Glade's old Holsum Bakery Thrift Store closed. According to Manager Wayne Boswell, the company didn't think a bread thrift store could be profitable here anymore.

After an apparent change of heart, a new Holsum Thrift Store opened in February, stocked full of all the items the old store on Main Street used to carry, plus a lot more.

After being located at 309 S. Main (where Lively Enterprises is now) for about 20 years, Holsum moved into its newer location in 1974, minus its thrift store. It kept its distribution center going though.

Boswell, born in Pahokee in 1949, and a Vietnam War Army veteran, has managed the business for 11 years. His top assistant, Jim West, has been with Holsum for 10 years.

Others working at the store include Norman Swearington, Joe McCormick, Jackie Hughes and Donna Boyd.

The thrift store specializes in selling two- to three-day-old bread at sharply reduced prices. This accomplishes two things, Boswell said—it enables the company to clear its inventories of older product and lets the consumer reap savings.

The store grabbed an honor in spring when it received the Beautification Award from the Chamber of Commerce.

Holsum's home office is in Miami. It has stores from Vero Beach to the Florida Keys.

School's around the corner

With only three more vacation days left before the school halls are busy again, I bet each of you, whether you are entering kindergarten, elementary, middle, or high school or college are planning to enjoy these last few days to their fullest.

The time has come to put summer fun behind you and academic excellence before you.

To those of you returning to college, I challenge each of you to put the Rev. Jessie Jackson's PUSH FOR EXCELLENCE theme in the fore front of your mind. Push for excellence not only in the fashions you wear on campus this fall, but in all you do, especially in the classroom. When summer and graduation rolls round next year, let's have some Magna Cum Laude and Cum Laude graduates from the Glades.

While away at college write the Herald-Observer at 425 S. Main St. and keep us abreast of your achievements.

To the elementary school students put your books first and television and playing second. Make your academic success a top priority.

In the afternoons before dropping the books and heading to the playground, study for an hour. After dinner, study for an hour or more before settling down in front of your favorite television program.

To the Glades Central and Pahokee High School football teams I am looking for excellence on the field and excellence in the classroom as well.

But remember it's better to have fun, give your best effort and lose the game, than to give less than your best, cheat and win the game.

Education is a priceless commodity, take advantage of it while you can.

Virtues of Florida O.J.

We all know the virtues of vitamin C and citrus, but research underway at the University of Florida gives us great pleasure.

Such research supports the idea that citrus fruits reduce the risks of heart attacks and strokes, because fruits and juices from citrus increase the levels of oxygen in the blood, reduce the viscosity of the blood and increase the level of high density lipoproteins. Additional research is needed to support those findings, and the Florida Citrus Commission has recently appropriated $12,490 toward those ends.

It's nice to know that besides being a mainstay of the local economy, the citrus we grow here may be important to good health in ways we never thought of.

Self-insurers fund returns $500,000

JOHN COOK of RoyVan Farms of Pahokee receives a dividend check from James T. Duncan, administrator of the FFVA Self Insurers Fund.

Half a million dollars in dividends was recently returned to eligible participants in the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association's Self Insurers Fund (SIF) throughout the state.

Authorization for the return was granted by Joe Mastrovito, chief, Bureau of Self Insurance, and J. Baxter Swine, director of Division of Workers Compensation, at the request of Fund Administrator James T. Duncan. Money from the dividends came from a surplus in the 1979 fund year.

To be eligible for dividends, participants must have been a member in the fund since Jan. 1, 1979, and be on good standing, with a loss ratio of less than 61 percent.

The highest dividends paid were 37.48 percent of premium for zero losses, graduating downward to 4.96 percent of premium on a loss ratio of 60.73 percent. The average dividend was 24.13 percent of premium with an average loss ratio of 24.94 percent.

This is the second year in which FFVA's Self Insurers Fund has returned dividends of $500,000, for a total return of $1 million.

Peter S. Harles of Palmetto, chairman of the board of trustees of the fund, credited the overall loss record and management of the fund for making the $500,000 dividend possible in 1981.

Marring perfection

When grandmothers and grandchildren get together, the results can be interesting.

Especially, when you have worked for years, cultivating an guise of perfection.

An example occurred this weekend when my mother came down from that teeming metropolis on the St. John's River, Welaka, to visit her favorite (and only) son in the Glades.

To most folks, Welaka may not seem like such a teeming place, especially since its population totals probably less than a 1,000.

But then you have to realize that everyone wasn't born in Spuds, Fla., where the potato is king.

Wherever I'm in northern Florida, I always make it a point to drive slowly through Spuds. It gives me a sense of stability, seeing where my mother was born, and realizing that some places never change much.

If you are ever in the neighborhood, you might want to look it up. It is near Hastings and not too far from Eileen.

Actually, while my mother was born in Spuds, she spent a fair part of her life living in larger cities, the last of which was Jacksonville. She was ready to move to the relative tranquility of Welaka when she died.

Anyway, my mother visited the Glades this weekend, a pastime she started way back...well I can't tell you exactly when because she might read this. But I'll give you a hint. She was a little girl then and her parents brought her to Canal Point to visit some friends. Those were the days when Canal Point still had white sand beaches.

She is all grown up now and so am I. Of course my little girl, Christine, thinks I am ancient. To her, 34 sounds as old as 55 or 87 for that matter. She'll ask me how old I am sometimes, and I'll tell her 44.

"For real?" she'll ask not really believing it, recalling that I said 62 the last time and 21 the time before that. So, finally I have to break down and tell her I'm 34, and she believes me. But to a seven year old, 34 is as old as Lake Okechobee.

Any good parent will encourage his child to tell the truth, study hard in school, and be a good kid.

Of course, like all parents, I was a paragon of the virtues I preach when I was a kid back in the Jurassic Age.

When my mother was here this weekend, she let it out of the bag to granddaughters Christine that I had on occasion gotten on her wrong side and even seen the wrong side of her hand.

Christine thought that rather funny. Thank goodness no mention was made of those report cards, which I hope were lost years ago. That would bring the house down.

mercifully, the references to the past were fleeting. But I've got to tell the truth: I kind of enjoyed them.

I think I saw the first glimmer of realization in my little girl's eyes that she understood that her old man had been a kid one time himself. The notion seemed far fetched, but after all, here was Grandma saying so herself.

That spanking so many years ago continues to pay unexpected dividends.

I'm going on to a three times a week newspaper on the East Coast.

I really enjoyed working here and I learned a lot from the people I worked with. Pleased for you, I know of no other journalists who produces more in his field than our Editor Jim Jones.

Kim Allen, the new Advertising Manager, is the best ad man in the Glades. From these two men I have learned the true meaning of dedication.

Fire taxing proposal abandoned

WEST PALM BEACH — The Palm Beach County Commission has abandoned its attempt to help residents of the glades area of the county establish a fire protection taxing district. Resident commissioner Bill Bailey, who originally proposed the idea, withdrew his support and moved to kill the taxing district plan at the regular Tuesday, (August 11) session of the county commission.

The taxing district would have raised tax dollars to purchase and maintain all emergency services in the town of Lake Harbor, and surrounding area. According to commissioner Bailey, the residents voiced a strong disapproval of the tax plan, and he felt it was unnecessary to pursue it. The action means that Lake Harbor area residents will have to continue to purchase fire protection from Clewiston, and South Bay, both of which are several miles away.

On another subject the board heard a preliminary report from staff members on a proposed rebate program to encourage more county residents to have their dogs or cats sterilized. Such a plan would reimburse any pet owner up to $25 after a pet is surgically altered at a private veterinarian. The rebate money would be taken from funds collected by the county on pet license fees. Under the proposal those fees would be raised to $4 for sterilized pets, and $8.50 for non-sterilized dogs and cats. The board authorized the staff to continue with the idea, and return with further information in two weeks.

South Bay retains current trash pickup fees

The South Bay City Commission decided to remain with the present trash pickup rate of $1 per month for residents of the city, although Acting City Manager Lomax Harrell, recommended the Commission raise the amount to $2 per month.

Harrell told the Commissioners the City must subsidize the Trash Department's income because it is not self-supporting.

He said because of increased fuel cost, salaries of two employees and the cost of maintenance on the equipment used in the department, one dollar per month was just not adequate.

Harrell said the city collects approximately $1,400 per month for trash billings.

Mayor Donald Tanner said if one dollar was not enough, he could not see how a one dollar increase would make much of a difference.

Tanner said residents of the city will be faced with trash and garbage increases as soon as the Solid Waste Lomax Harrell, recommended the Commission raise the amount to $2 per month.

Authority and the Palm Beach County Extension reach a solution as to what the rates will be at the transfer station.

The Commission also heard a proposal from David Jasmund, a representative from the Florida League of Cities Municipal Health and Trust Fund.

Jasmund told the Commission the League of Cities' self-insurance health and life plan could save the city money.

Presently the city is covered by Connecticut General.

Jasmund said presently there are 92 cities in Florida in the League's self-insurance program.

Jasmund said the League of Cities would offer the City of South Bay it same basic plan at a 43 percent saving for its life insurance program and a 14 percent saving on its health insurance program.

Under the League of Cities' program, the City Commissioners, the city attorney as well as retired city employees could be covered under the program.

James Gann, the city attorney told Jasmund the city had an ordinance that required the city to put its insurance coverage out for bid.

The Commissioners agreed to accept The League of Cities' proposal as a bid and give other insurance providers the opportunity to bid on the city's insurance coverage.

Presently the city's Workman's Compensation Program is carried through the Fla. League of Cities.

First American Bank breaks ground for new branch office

By SCOTT ELLIS
BELLE GLADE—The second largest banking institution in Palm Beach County broke ground last week for its new permanent Belle Glade branch building.

The bank is operating out of a temporary structure just west of the construction site on South Main across from Burger King since March. The branch is the bank's 12th in the county.

"First American Bank is the size bank we've needed in the Glades for long time," Mike Wilson said at the ground-breaking ceremony Aug.

13. Wilson is the chairman of the bank's Belle Glade Management Board.

"With our $400 million in total assets, our bank gives will give sizeable loans and services for the people of the Glades. We are very positive about the area and the growth of Belle Glade."

"There is no question about it, Belle Glade is the leader in the Glades," Wilson added.

The new three-story building will be of a modern Florida design, according to the structure's architect, Peter Thomas, of Thomas and Weyant, the building's engineers. The bottom floor will be the bank's space and the top two floors will be available for offices.

The 90x50 foot building will feature large solar glass windows and intricate landscaping, Thomas said.

Four drive-in windows and a 40-car parking lot are planned. The building is scheduled to open early next year.

First American Bank also operates a Pahokee branch. Assets at Belle Glade are reported to be nearly $2 million. Roy Talmo is chairman of the board for all 12 branches and Robert Zammit is president.

J. Ray Hatton, bank board member and president of Hatton Properties of Pahokee, is the building's developer. Thomas and Weyant of West Palm Beach are the engineers.

On hand for the ground-breaking was Hatton, Thomas, Wilson, Pahokee and Belle Glade bank Vice President Geoff Wade, Mayor Tom Altman and Dwight Weyant of Thomas and Weyant.

Local men named to celery committee

Secretary of Agriculture John Block has named 16 members and their alternates to the Florida Celery Committee. They will serve one-year terms ending July 31, 1982.

Among the members and alternates are a number of representatives from the Glades area. Local members, followed by their alternates are:

*Group 1: John O. Schlechter and John Hundley of Belle Glade; Charles D. Wilkinson and James H. Wilkenson of Belle Glade; William D. Greenleaf and James G. Grossinger, Sr. of Belle Glade; Roy Vandergrift, Jr. and John M. Cook of Pahokee; Robert S. Wigley and David L. Young of Belle Glade.

*Group 4: Frank D. Tosta and Roy Hayes of South Bay; R. Den Scruggs and Charles F. Wilson, Jr. of South Bay.

The committee works with the U. S. Department of Agriculture in administering the federal marketing order covering celery grown in Florida.

Fifteen members and their alternates were nominated by celery producers and handlers. A public member and alternate were selected by the committee.

William Knops, field representative with the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service at Lakeland, said the federal marketing order tailors celery supplies to demand by setting allotments on the amount of celery handlers can acquire from each producer.

The program also authorizes quality, pack and container requirements, as well as research and development activities, including paid advertising.

Helping kids keep up with inflation

Kids between six and 16 spend billions of dollars a year. But inflation has eroded their purchasing power because the prices of records, movies and hamburgers rise faster than their allowances or pay from baby-sitting or delivering newspapers.

To help your children cope with inflation, teach them some basic money management techniques, says the Florida Institute of Certified Public Accountants including budgeting, cash flow and saving.

Over half of the children in the country receive a regular allowance. According to the 1980 nationwide Rand Youth Poll of 8,100 teenagers, the average weekly allowance for 13- to 15-year olds is $10. For 16- to 19-year-olds, the figure is $20. Children under the age of seven may receive 25 to 75 cents a week; eight- and nine-year olds, $1 to $2.50; and 10- and 11-year olds, $1.50 to $3.50.

How much of an allowance you give your child and how often depends upon your particular financial situation, but CPAs offer these guidelines for determining the size of an allowance.

Sit down with your child and list the expenses he or she will be responsible for. These could include school lunches, transportation, sporting activities and entertainment, like movie tickets. Then figure approximately how much will be spent in each category every week or month, depending on the frequency of the allowance.

Over the next month or so, help your child keep a list of his or her actual expenses. This will help both of you decide whether or not the allowance needs to be adjusted. (Don't be surprised if you are asked for a raise!)

said, but he wasn't optimistic on Acree's estimate on finishing the building by Sept. 1.

The latest deadline expired Tuesday, and committee Chairman Bill Bailey was in favor of finishing Acree the $1,000 per day the contract stipulated. He did not want to grant an extension.

A new landfill dumping site is still being sought by the committee and this was discussed. Hunt presented a tentative transfer and disposal budget, which the committee tentatively approved.

The new budget is tentatively set at $639,016, up from $417,196 last year. The increase is due to hikes in the tipping fees at the Lantana landfill, which Belle Glade and South Bay have been using.

Hunt is contacting other landfills in the region, however, to try and lower the authority's disposal costs. Okeechobee County is among the prospects.

If another dumping site is found, it could substantially lower costs, Hunt said.

Of the new budget, $111,346 is slated for salaries. More than $150,000 is allotted for disposal, up nearly double from the $85,500 spent last year.

Tragedy—

door or the church during the past 25 years. Many mornings we gave him breakfast and lunch.

When Wayne finished the cleaning work at the church, I took him to a local businessman who was running an apartment complex. Wayne helped him with maintenance there and at his home. There he was provided a room.

Wayne came back and I put him on more odd jobs. Then I found him a job in construction. He worked for several weeks helping build a house. All the time he was talking to me and asking questions. He seemed unable to function without direct supervision.

He was trying to improve his mode of speech. I would correct his use of words and pronunciation. My wife gave him a pocket New Testament which he carried until he lost it; and I gave him another. I let him practice playing on an old piano in a classroom. He wanted to learn music. He also wrote the words and put music (of sorts) to a song and sang it for me. It was the story of a lonely young man. He practiced at night and his presence was noticed by neighbors and church members.

The session (governing body of the local Presbyterian church) met with me to discuss the problem of Wayne. They (the members of the Session and some church members) were worried about Wayne and his being around the church (he had no other place to go except the street).

It was agreed that I would ask him to leave the church premises. He had lost his job and his room which he had had in Belle Glade and I had allowed him to sleep in the men's room of the education building of the church.

I had agreed with the session because I felt Wayne needed to take care of himself and also the church was not set up to provide permanent living quarters.

Wayne left the church ground except when he came back to rake leaves or to trim shrubbery at my expense. I continued to press Wayne to assume responsibility for his life.

During one series of our discussions, he began to talk of his visions. These were about angels (the devil hadn't made the scene as yet). He asked about angels, and I told him about angels in the Bible. He told me that he was told in a vision that he was going to be rich. There was no indication that he would do anything wrong or violent to secure this wealth, but I was concerned.

I told him money for me had always come through hard work. I encouraged him to contact local businesses for a job. Later, he said that he did this but to no avail apparently.

Wayne continued to do work around our home and the church. He applied in West Palm Beach for work saying he gave my name as a reference at least one place.

As time passed I talked to Wayne as an impatient parent. I told him that he couldn't just sit around town or the church. I also said that if anything happened in the neighborhood he would be suspect. I didn't realize the prophetic nature of my words or what a horrible event it would be.

I encouraged Wayne to attend church. He worked with one of the other pastors in Belle Glade so I encouraged him to attend that church. He had been raised in the Anglican Church, Barbados. Wayne said he attend a mission on Fourth Street.

When Wayne was depressed about getting work, I encouraged him by giving him jobs of raking and weeding around the church. My wife and I fed him and prayed for him. In one effort to help him I took Wayne to the Crisis Stabilization Unit because of my concern for his mental stability. Also my wife gave him paper, envelope, stamp and a pen for him to write home to his mother in Barbados to get permission to return after we learned through government channels that this procedure had to be followed.

When I saw Wayne the last time nearly a month ago he said he was going to West Palm Beach to see about a job. I told him I would be going away on vacation. Also I told him some people would be staying in our home, but not to bother them. This may have been the straw which broke the proverbial camel's back. One of the police officers suggested to me that Wayne could have felt totally rejected because we went away on a vacation and he had been told to stay off the church property.

Wayne was lonely and he may have turned to drugs. It is logical for the devil to use someone who is weak and easily tempted to do his evil work. I had my part in his life but I don't feel guilty. I will try to do better in the future.

Well, why did I help Wayne continuously when he seemed to be unwilling or unable to help himself? God doesn't give up on us when we don't do his will. We don't give up on our children when they don't obey us. We are told to forgive and to forgive.

During my years in the ministry in Texas and Florida, I have been approached for help by transients, drunks, stranded travelers, blacks, whites, Spanish, young, old, individuals, families in small towns and large cities. I have always tried to help everyone who has come to my door or to the church. There have been those whom I have turned away who didn't help themselves and only wanted my money.

I believe in Christ's word to help the hungry, poor, lonely, naked and those in prison. I have tried to express God's love in deed as well as in word. Most of those helped have gone on and I have never seen them or heard of them again. Some have come back and thanked me. One came back year after year for 7 or 8 years. I have helped countless men and women; some have written me; most haven't. But I am not going to stop acting as Christ commanded.

My feelings are deep about the Williams, my neighbors for the past three years. I would rather have been killed myself than to have them die. Nothing can be done to bring them back. Something can be done now in our community.

When the children of Israel had tragedy come upon them, they searched their hearts and souls to find out what was the cause. They believed that tragedy was the result of God's punishing them. I believe that God is punishing America by allowing violence, murder, terror, tragedy, disease and death dealing storms.

What has America done to deserve all of this? First of all we are full of selfishness. We have taken to worshipping money, sports, comfort, pleasure, etc. Finally most everyone is afraid. Most of the churches are losing members, attendance and support. People are suffering from ~~inadequate~~ heartaches and fear.

What can we do? Return to God. Put Him first in your life. Follow the teachings of Christ. Pray for guidance. Now church attendance won't save your soul but it will give you an opportunity to hear the Gospel and what it means in your life. If you put God's love into action you don't have much time for selfishness, loneliness and self gratification.

For myself, I am going to preach stronger, live more lovingly, continually help those who need help, and pray to be used more by God.

You might say, "You helped Wayne Callender and he killed two innocent people, right?"

"Yes, but I helped George, Ray, Maria, Jeremiah, Leo and countless others and they are living good lives."

Jesus helped 10 lepers and only one thanked him. One of his disciples betrayed him, another denied him and all deserted him. Yet he had the greatest influence that anyone has had in the world.

What about you? What are you going to do? Are you going to bar your windows and huddle in your house? Are you going to hate Wayne or others like him or pray for him and do something to help those in need? Are you going to curse drugs and mix yourself a highball? Or will you support the local drug program? Such a program might save your son or daughter or even yourself.

Remember fear is from the devil. Christ's love is the only thing that can overcome it. No guns or bars are going to protect or take away the fear in your heart. Remember the devil can affect all of us, not just Wayne Callender!

Jesus wants out of his way to help. What about you? The world would be far more of a jungle than it is without the influence of love that Christ brought to the world.

What are you going to do? Turn away the Waynes or the Georges from your door? Think about it!

Attend church Sunday and volunteer to help your pastor to help others!

Florida report on crime

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Department of Law Enforcement today reported that the number of crime statistics reported to law enforcement agencies in Florida during the first six months of 1981 increased 4.2 percent over the first half of 1980.

The increase was disclosed in the Uniform Crime Reports preliminary semiannual statistics released today by Jim York, Commissioner of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement.

As a group, violent crimes (murder, rape, robbery and aggravated assault) reflected a 10.1 percent increase, with robbery showing the highest percent increase at 20.9 percent. Murder increased 19.7 percent, aggravated assault rose 4.1 percent and forcible rape went up 6.8 percent.

Nonviolent crimes (breaking and entering, burglary, larceny and motor vehicle theft) reflected a 3.4 percent increase with breaking and entering-burglary showing the highest percent increase at 8.4 percent. Motor vehicle theft was up 0.1 percent, while larceny showed a 1.1 percent increase.

The total value of property stolen in Florida during the first six months of 1981 was $307,346,276, an increase of 22.8 percent, or $56,968,366, over the first half of 1980. Law enforcement agencies were successful in recovering 16 percent of the stolen property.

While expressing his extreme concern about the increase in crime, Commissioner York encouraged the public and the media to appraise the statistics cautiously and to support law enforcement in its efforts to reduce and control this serious community problem.

Commissioner York suggested that such factors as intra-family violence, drug abuse, population shifts and the refugee situation are having a major impact on crime in Florida. "In particular, depressed economic conditions have contributed significantly to the increase in the value of property stolen... a value which is much higher than the actual increase in the number of larcenies," York said.

The willingness of citizens to report crimes committed against them also affects the volume of crime reflected in the Uniform Crime Reports. "The latest crime statistics only serve to remind us that the law enforcement community and the citizenry of Florida continue to face an uphill struggle against crime," York said.

Arrest blotter

MAN CHARGED WITH AGGRAVATED ASSAULT, FALSE IMPRISONMENT

Clarence Seymour, 27, has been charged with false imprisonment and aggravated assault, following a Aug. 14 incident.

Judge Don Adams originally set bond at $10,000 in the case, but later reduced that amount to $750. If Seymour is arrested again, the bond will be increased to $5,000.

According to court records, Seymour grabbed Vickianna Rena Vickars, 18, by the neck, placed a gun to her head, and forced her into his car.

She had been talking to several men at S.W. 8th Street and S.W. Ave. C Place at that time.

Seymour allegedly threatened to kill Vickars after grabbing her.

The suspect first drove to Glade View Elementary School then to 553 S.W. 11th St. with the victim. A second car followed them to both places. After the suspect had stopped the second time, Vickars ran from the first car and was taken to Belle Glade Police Department.

Investigating the case for the Belle Glade Police Department are Det. William Bullock and Patrolman Jack Palanowicz.

The Public Defender's Office will represent Seymour in court.

MEN CHARGED WITH DWI

Richard John Robelewski of 385 Adams Ave., Palatka, was charged with driving while intoxicated Aug. 18 by Deputy Raul Sotia. The incident occurred on Seacom Point Road near State Road 16.

Deputy Robert Champion charged Richard W. Holm of Winter Haven with DWI and careless driving Aug. 18 on State Road 80 between South Bay and State Road 715. Holm refused to either take a breathalyzer test or sign the citation. Bon was set at $500.

BEER STOLEN FROM TRUCKER

Ronnie Lee Jenkins, 39, a trucker for Seminole Trucking reported 36 cases of Busch Beer and four cases of Budweiser, were stolen from the rear of his semi Aug. 14 at Deann City Truck Stop.

Jenkins apparently fell asleep and entry to the trailer may have been by cutting a lock.

MAN CHARGED WITH AUTO THEFT

Terry Bruce Walker, 22, was charged with auto theft of a 1976 Cadillac Seville Aug. 17 by Deputy T. E. Brooks at State Road 80 at Woodham's Market.

Hoskins wins scholarship

HOUSTON, Tex. — Miss Laura Denise Hoskins, a 1981 graduate of Pahokee High School has been named the recipient of the National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. Annual Scholarship (NBPW).

Miss Hoskins competed with other young ladies from across the United States for the $3,500 scholarship prize money. Miss Hoskins was flown to Houston, courtesy of the West Palm Beach to accept the scholarship at the National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women's Clubs' annual convention which convened at the Shamrock Hilton Hotel. Miss Hoskins, number four in the 1981 graduating class of Pahokee High School, said she was informed of the availability of the scholarship by Mrs. Louise E. Taylor of Belle Glade.

She said she filled in the necessary application and mailed the material in. "Having to compete with young ladies from across the U.S., I had no idea I would win," said Miss Hoskins. Miss Hoskins is the first young lady from Florida and the Southeastern region to receive the scholarship from the NBPW.

A member of the National Honor Society, Student Council, a varsity cheerleader and a member of the Guidance Department's Peer Facilitators Group at Pahokee High School, Miss Hoskins said she plans to attend Florida State University in Tallahassee this fall.

Miss Hoskins also was presented by the Elite Community Club, Inc., at its annual Debutante and Escort Ball held in May of this year.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Major Hoskins, of 1878 Jordan Blvd. in Pahokee, Miss Hoskins said, "high academic achievement" has always been a top priority in her life.

She said she plans to enroll at Florida State University in Tallahassee after completing Palm Beach Junior College.

Miss Hoskins also is a recipient of the President's Scholarship given by Palm Beach Junior College to the top graduating students in each of Palm Beach County's high schools.

Ernest Thompson, principal of East Lake Middle School and a former assistant principal of Pahokee High School said Hoskins was "an ideal student". Mrs. Brenda Montgomery, a guidance counselor at Pahokee High School said she was elated Laura had been chosen for the scholarship and surprised someone local had won the award from the NBPW.

Accompanying Miss Hoskins from West Palm Beach on the trip were Mrs. Charlotte Lewis and Mrs. Laura Simmons.

Cards of Thanks

We would like to take this opportunity to thank each and every member of our community for all the food, flowers and especially all the prayers and concern given to our family upon the loss of our mother and father.

We give a special thanks to the Belle Glade Police Department, the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department and the Border Patrol for all their efforts and hard work during this time.

Their special efforts and kindness mean our loss a little easier to bear. A simple "thank you" can not express our gratitude to everyone involved, so may we say, God Bless You All. The Families of Curtis & Loretta Williams

Gold Coast Gardener

By Gene Joyner Urban Horticulturist Palm Beach County

This time of year a lot of home gardeners are attempting to do plant propagation and it is always a lot of fun to root your own cuttings and start some additional plants for your landscape or to share with friends. In order to be successful of rooting cuttings, however, one has to follow a few basic principles and many people that are not experienced horticulturists get discouraged when time after time their attempts at propagation fail.

One of the first things that you need to know about rooting cuttings is that the media they are placed in often times determines whether or not the cuttings will root. The requirements for a good media are that it has excellent drainage, be firm enough to support the cutting, provides good aeration and not be compacted.

Many people root plants in soilless mixes such as peat moss, sphagnum moss, bark chips or other materials mixed with perlite to provide better drainage. Sterilized topsoil mixed with sand, bark or perlite is also an excellent media.

A few easy-to-root plants may be rooted in water, however, the one disadvantage with rooting plants in water is that the root system is very fragile and when the plant is finally put into the ground many of the roots are broken off during the planting process. If you are not experienced at taking cuttings, here are some tips. In most cases small cuttings root better than large ones.

Dear Dad, When I was a little girl I thought you were the most handsome and charming Dad in the whole world; you were fun to be with, going swimming at Rehoboth and Swansea Dam, and playing ball in the backyard. And when I was a teen and dating you were pretty terrific too.

Putting up with a lot of friends, noise and confusion and you were a good example of a loving husband, (I knew what to look for.) And you were always honest and fair with your dealings with others, a good and moral person.

I liked that Dad, it made me proud of you. Yes Dad, that is what I thought of you then, and now, and always.

I love you Dad, Happy 60th birthday!

Love Renee

Educational, cultural opportunities offered by PBJC

NAME: Palm Beach Junior College-Glades.
ADDRESS: 1977 College Drive.
PHONE: 996-3065.
PROVOST: Dr. Cecil Conley.

Dr. Cecil Conley, 59, has been with Palm Beach Junior College-Glades since his birth.

PBJC-Glades could hardly have tailor-made a provost any better for this area than Conley.

Not only is he highly qualified by education for his post, he also has an impressive agricultural background.

He was born in Tomahawk, Kentucky, and earned bachelor and masters degrees in agriculture at the University of Kentucky. Biochemistry in animal nutrition was the basis for his doctorate at North Carolina State. He also completed post doctoral work at North Carolina State and at Auburn University.

Before coming to Florida, he worked for a year as a county agent, and was a faculty member at Clemson University and at Livingston College in Alabama.

He has been in Belle Glades since 1972, starting as executive dean, moving up to vice president, and then provost four years ago.

When Conley first arrived, courses were being taught in the National Guard Armory, at churches, the airport, at the Glades Central Community High School Annex, and at the prison.

PBJC-Glades moved into its current quarters in January of 1975.

Under construction is the 600 seat Cultural Arts and Instructional Center, which should be completed early next year.

The master plan for PBJC-Glades calls for other construction in the future, including additional classrooms, and an athletic facility with playing fields, handball and tennis courts. The new athletic facilities would be constructed just west of the Cultural Arts and Instructional Center.

Already, $4 million has been spent or committed for the local campus. By the time the entire package proposed in the master plan is completed, the project will have cost an estimated $25 to $30 million.

Approximately 70 courses will be offered at PBJC-Glades this fall.

Conley calls it a good feeling, strong on academics.

He speaks with pride of how well prepared PBJC-Glades graduates are who progress on to higher institutions in pursuit of bachelor degrees.

Conley is a believer in teaching basics and sees a return to quality education as the prevailing trend.

He advises students to get a broad base in mathematics and science.

Students at PBJC-Glades may earn AA or AS degrees.

PBJC-Glades offers free tuition to students from this area who finish in the top 10 percent of their high school class.

In addition to his job as provost, Conley rounds out his life by serving as president of the Glades Historical Society, and chairman of the South Bay Growers Scholarship Committee. He is also a Lions Club member, past president of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce, a World War Two veteran, and an elder for Everglades Presbyterian Church.

WEST TECH is one of the most modern training facilities of its kind.

West Tech begins 2nd year of training

NAME: West Technical Education Center.
LOCATION: 2626 State Road 715.
TELEPHONE: 996-4033, ext. 4714.
DIRECTOR: Roy Carter.
CAPACITY: 350.
FULLTIME FACULTY: 16.

West Tech, now in its second year, began registration for day classes Aug. 10. Registration continues throughout the year on a space available, or "open entry" open exit, basis. A $15 registration fee is charged. West Tech is approved for veterans benefits.

Minimum age for students is 16. There is no maximum age. The average student is in his 20s. Most classes contain a mixture of men and women.

West Tech's help students assess what area is best for them through an employability assessment laboratory. Written and aptitude tests are available.

The new term begins Aug. 24. Classes run from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. for fulltime students and from 8 to 11 a.m. or 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. for evening part-time students.

In its first year, West Tech graduated 61 students. Among the most popular course offerings were nursing, diesel mechanics, and cosmetology. These courses usually fill up early.

Although West Tech opened August 25, 1980, the nursing program had started several years earlier at Glades General Hospital. West Tech offers two nursing programs: practical nursing and nursing assistant.

Dean Juanita Lampi says that the projected minimum daytime enrollment this year is 200 students. Approximately 325 students attended evening classes last year.

One of the school's greatest successes has been the diesel mechanics class. Eleven diesel mechanic students graduated during the first year, and 12 more will graduate this summer.

"Quite a few have been placed in fulltime jobs," Lampi said. There is normally a waiting list of students for the diesel mechanics course.

The school's primary emphasis is on job placement, but there is a new emphasis also on helping the community in other ways.

Heavy equipment operator students may help with proposed Belle Glade Airport improvements. Incidentally, three courses—heavy duty truck and bus mechanic, heavy equipment mechanics, and heavy equipment operations—were combined into one this year.

Though training has slowed during the summer, on-the-job training has continued. Lampi calls it "competency based instruction." Student progress at their own pace.

Call or visit West Tech for more information on course offerings.

The "Fighting Pahokee Blue Devils," Pahokee High School, will open its doors for student registration Thursday, Aug. 20.

School will be begin Monday, Aug. 24, and school hours for students will be from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Students will be greeted back by Principal Jack Redding. Redding first came to the school in 1972. In 1979 he was named the West Area School Superintendent. Assisting Redding will be Robert Fincannon, assistant principal for curriculum, and Antoine Russell, assistant principal for administrative matters.

All sixth grade students entering Pahokee High School will be required to present evidence of a medical examination taken within the past 12 months.

Approximately six new teachers will be joining the Blue Devil staff and several new course offerings will be available.

Fincannon said Art II will be added to the Art program for the first time. John Holman will serve as the instructor. Holman transferred from Glades Central Community to Pahokee High School in 1979.

Fincannon said a number of students have requested a Spanish class and there is a possibility the class will be offered this year.

A Plato Computer

System, driver's education, and health will also be offered.

Fincannon said previously driver's education was a semester course. At the end of each semester there was always a question of what to do with the students for the second semester.

Fincannon said the Health section of the course will help the student better understand himself and his community.

The Pahokee High School Blue Devil athletic program will offer a number of fall sports for both boys and girls. The Blue Devil football team will be coached by James Hyneman and their first game will be played on Friday, Sept. 11, at Cardinal Newman High School in West Palm Beach.

Glades Day has more than football

NAME: Glades Day School.
ADDRESS: 400 N.E. Ave. L, Belle Glade and 1749 E. Main St., Pahokee.

HEADMASTER: William Branyon.
FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION: 37.
SCHOOL HOURS: 8:15-2:30.

PROJECTED ENROLLMENT: 650.

REGISTRATION: Anytime during the summer, until opening day, Aug. 24.

SCHOOL COLORS: Green, white and gold.
NICKNAME: The Fighting Gators.

Most of us think of fantastic Class A football teams when we think of Glades Day School. But Headmaster William Branyon says Glades Day has been steadily building quite an academic record since its founding in 1965. Glades Day School began as a private elementary school in the old Everglades Memorial Hospital Building on East Main. It graduated its first high school class in 1971 and the first Belle Glades classes were held in 1973.

"We want to offer students the best education and most extracurricular opportunities possible," Branyon said.

"We are in a position to benefit the student with our small size too."

The average Glades Day class size is about 20 students, Branyon said.

Branyon is entering his fourth year as Glades Day's top administrator.

He took over from the original headmistress,

Miriam Burgess, who retired in 1978. Burgess was head of the school since its creation.

Originally from northwest Alabama, Branyon came to Florida in 1961, after graduating with a B.S. from Troy State University in Alabama. He taught English and was assistant principal in public schools in Orange County for 12 years before becoming headmaster at Howey Academy in central Florida at Howey-in-the-Hills. He then came to Glades Day.

Christian Academy has big plans for the future

NAME: Belle Glade Christian Academy
ADDRESS: 1318 W. Canal St.
TELEPHONE: 990-1201
PRINCIPAL: J. P. Feld
FACULTY: 8
ENROLLMENT: 104
SCHOOL HOURS: 8:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

Belle Glade Christian Academy started just last year on the ground floor of the Apostolic Church of Jesus Christ with 67 students.

That number grew to 104 by the end of the school year, and 156 students are already signed up for the new school year which begins Aug. 31.

Referring to the school's waiting list, Headmaster Gerald Campetella says there are three students for every chair.

It is not surprising then that the Apostolic Church of Jesus Christ already has hanging in its front lobby an architect's drawing of a proposed 34,000 square foot facility for 2,000 students. Principal J. P. Feld says he hopes to have the modern building, which features a central rotunda crowned with a plexiglass dome, completed within two to three years.

Test pilings were to be driven Saturday, Aug. 15, on the six-acre site behind the Apostolic Church of Jesus Christ, where the new school building is to be built.

School leaders say that parents send their children to the school because of the discipline, emphasis on learning, and the Christian atmosphere that the school features.

Under the Accelerated Christian Education (ACE) program, students work at their own pace with individual programs.

Though the ACE program is being taught in temporary quarters, the classrooms are bright, clean, pleasant and equipped with piped in music and air conditioning.

"We teach the greatness of America, the value of the free enterprise system, and the dangers of socialism and communism," says Headmaster Campetella.

Students wear red, white and blue uniforms and raise American flags at their tables when meeting a teacher's help.

A standard slide presentation shown at the church says that Christian education is the hope of the Republic and deplores the removal of the Bible from school systems.

Under the ACE program, students are evaluated individually and tested at the start and end of the school year to measure their progress. The California Standard Achievement Test is one of the tools used and has shown conclusive improvement, says Campetella.

Underachievers can become achievers with ACE, they say.

Students use previously prepared, school provided materials, plan their own week, accomplishing "bite-sized, achievable objectives."

There is no advancement without learning, no social promotions. Children grade their own papers under the supervision of a teacher at a central grading area and then learn from their own mistakes.

Using the self-instructional materials, the student teaches himself, leaving the teacher free to assist students who need help.

Under the ACE program, the teacher actually has more time for one to one instruction than in conventional classrooms, say school officials.

Students take PACE mastery tests when they feel they are ready. They can make up to 100 on each test and are required to re-take the exam if they fail. The highest grade they can make on a re-take is 80.

Children receive quarterly progress reports and receive a percentage grade based on 100, instead of the standard A, B, C, D, F grades. Students grade themselves, as work habits, social development, and personal development.

School officials review each application, rejecting those they feel would lead to disruption within the school. Discipline is enforced each school day, however, students can earn extra break time and the privilege of leaving their work table through proper behavior.

The typical day starts with the pledge to the flag, a Bible reading, and the singing of a hymn.

"We felt this was needed," Principal Feld says. "It's just another program of the church."

"We have Sunday School and now we have Monday School," he says.

Ambitious is the best way to describe the program which already offers programs for kindergarten through 12th grade and is planning adding two years of college to the curriculum.

The proposed new facility will include classrooms, administrative offices, a swimming pool, racquet ball court, cafeteria, gymnasium (with sauna), and showers, teachers and students lounge, and a basketball court. One of the most dramatic features of the school will be the circular library with books mounted on the curving walls.

Glades Day

In one school year, there isn't much room for improvement—the Glades Day Gators have already reached the pinnacle of success by taking the state Class A high school football title in an emotional game at Baker last winter. The team had a 13-0 record.

Coach Walker, assistant coach Gator, and the team in the school's short history, has assumed another position in addition to his regular duties—he will be Branyon's administrative assistant.

Glades Day's sports program continues to grow each year, Branyon said, with girls volleyball and basketball added in 1980.

Students from all over the Glades and beyond attend Glades Day Branyon said, pointing out that the school has pupils and bus routes in West Palm Beach, Wellington, Loxahatchie, Royal Palm Beach, Fox Trail, Clewiston, Lake Harbor and Canal Point, as well as Belle Glade and Palm Bay.

Beginning with an enrollment of less than 100 and only three teachers 16 years ago, Glades Day School has come a long way since 1965. In 1969, Glades Day was accredited by the Florida Council of Independent Schools and the Florida Kindergarten Council.

The school's first high school class graduated in 1971 and the Belle Glade school site was purchased in the same year.

Four new teachers come to Glades Day this year. Jack Hopler comes to the Glades from Lakeland's Sacred Heart Catholic School, where he was physical education teacher.

With a B.S. from East Stroudsburg State in Pennsylvania, Hopler will be a P.E. teacher as well as junior varsity football and basketball coach. Former teaching assistant Judy Schiele will teach secondary English this year, after receiving her B.S. from Florida Atlantic University. Joan Welsner will teach in the elementary school after teaching for three years in Tampa and Clewiston. She has a B.A. from the University of Florida.

Antonia Antonik, formerly employed at Lake Shore Elementary and Middle Schools, will become a reading specialist. She has a B.S. from Palm Beach Atlantic College and a M.S. from Nova University. Glades Day School is a non-profit organization with no other affiliation.

NICKNAME: Crusaders.
Christian Day School is looking for good, strong students.
"Our goal is excellence in education," says Principal Arvine Bell. "We consider our school a strong, academic school. It means homework."
Bible study is part of the curriculum. "We teach Bible to every student every day. We do not have to apologize for the Christian part of our education. We are not being pious. This is just part of our academic," she said.

Christian Day students start to school Aug. 24. Bus service brings students from Pahokee, Canal Point, South Bay and Belle Glade to the school, which was founded in 1989 and is the oldest private school in Belle Glade.
Christian Day has day care facilities for 2 1/2 year old students, as well as kindergarten children, and students through 12th grade.

An emphasis on music which the school hasn't had in the past will be offered this year because of new staff additions.
The school has recently renovated its day care facility, is now renovating its library, and is in the process of cleaning the entire building.
Christian Day is a ministry of the First Baptist Church of Belle Glade, but is self sustaining. "We want the community to know that we appreciate their generosity with us," she said.

Canal Point Elementary, one of the first schools built in the Glades, still stands as one of the main focus points for the tiny community of Canal Point, once "The City" of the Glades.
Known to its students as a "Whale of a School," great drawings of whales greet each visitor as he enters the school.
Assisting Mrs. Cunningham at Canal Point Elementary is Assistant Principal Ann Alderman. Joining the staff for the first time will be new teachers Janice Brown, Beve Sigel and Debbie Jackson.
Two familiar teachers, Mrs. Mae Alice Johnson and Mrs. Betty Jordan, who joined the staff in 1988 when Mrs. Cunningham was appointed principal, will also be returning to school on Aug. 17.
Mrs. Cunningham said Canal Point Elementary serves students from kindergarten through fourth grade. School registration will be held Thursday, Aug. 20, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

All new students are required to provide a birth certificate, evidence of completed immunization and a medical examination at the time of entry. Physical examinations must have been completed within 12 months prior to school entry.
School hours will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.
Mrs. Cunningham said several new portables are being installed at the school this year. The portables will house one first grade class and two fourth grade classes.

One of the main fund raising events for the school this year will be the annual Halloween Carnival. The carnival, one of the Glades most successful events, has become a tradition at Canal Point Elementary. The Parent-Teacher Organization, staff and community supporters take great pride in putting on this annual event.

Lakeshore Middle makes progress

NAME: Lakeshore Middle School.

PHONE: 990-6801.
PRINCIPAL: Edward Foley, Jr.
ENROLLMENT: 918.
FACULTY: 58.
COLORS: Red and White.
NICKNAME: Road Runners.
Principal Ed Foley is proud of the progress made by Lakeshore Middle School during the past three years.
Students have improved their academic test scores, are leaders on athletic fields, and attend one of the most attractive schools in town. The Belle Glade Beautification Committee awarded the school its trophy this year for best school grounds in the community.
Under the Florida State Student Assessment Program, composite scores improved from 39 percent to 56 percent in reading, from 54 percent to 66 percent in writing, and from 51 percent to 63 percent in mathematics in three years.
One of the ways the school has improved its academic performance is through the "Plate Program," a machine math program which fills a compensatory need. "They can pick the program they want and work at their own speed," he said.

CONSTANT improvement of all facets of Lakeshore Middle School has been Principal Ed Foley's goal during the past three years.

LMS also offers pre-algebra for seventh graders and algebra for eighth graders.
Among physical improvements at the school are a new gymnasium floor, new bleachers, and new curtains.

Christian Academy has big plans for the future

NAME: Belle Glade Christian Academy 1316 W. Canal St.
TELEPHONE: 996-1391
PRINCIPAL: J. P. Feld
FACULTY: 6
ENROLLMENT: 156
SCHOOL HOURS: 8:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

Belle Glade Christian Academy started just last year on the ground floor of the Apostolic Church of Jesus Christ with 67 students. That number grew to 104 by the end of the school year and 156 students are already signed up for the new school year which begins Aug. 31.

Referring to the school's waiting list, Headmaster Gerald Campetella says there are three students for every chair.

It is not surprising then that the Apostolic Church of Jesus Christ already has hanging in its front lobby an architect's drawing of a proposed 34,000 square foot facility for 2,000 students. Principal J. P. Feld says he hopes to have the modern building, which features a central rotunda crowned with a plexiglass dome, completed within two to three years.

Test pilings were to be driven Saturday, Aug. 16, on the six-acre site behind the Apostolic Church of Jesus Christ, where the new school building is to be built.

School leaders say that parents send their children to the school because of the discipline, emphasis on learning, and the Christian atmosphere that the school features.

Under the Accelerated Christian Education (ACE) program, students work at their own pace with individual programs.

Though the ACE program is being taught in temporary quarters, the facilities are bright, clean, pleasant and equipped with piped in music and air conditioning.

"We teach the greatness of America, the value of the free enterprise system, and the dangers of socialism and communism," says Headmaster Campetella.

Students wear red, white and blue uniforms and raise American flags at their tables when needing a teacher's help. A standard slide presentation shown at the church says that Christian education is the hope of the Republic and deplores the removal of the Bible from school systems.

Under the ACE program, students are evaluated individually and tested at the start and end of the school year to measure their progress. The California Standard Achievement Test is one of the tools used and has shown conclusive improvement, says Campetella.

Underachievers can become achievers with ACE, they say.

Students use previously prepared, school provided materials, plan their own week, accomplishing "bite-sized, achievable objectives."

There is no advancement without learning, no social promotions. Children grade their own papers under the supervision of a teacher at a central grading area and then learn from their own mistakes.

Using the self-instructional materials, the student teaches himself, leaving the teacher free to assist students who need help. Under the ACE program, the teacher actually has more time for one to one instruction than in conventional classrooms, say school officials.

Students take PACE mastery tests when they feel they are ready. They can make up to 100 on each test and are required to re-take the exam if they fail. The highest grade they can make on a re-take is 80.

Children receive quarterly progress reports and receive a percentage grade based on 100, instead of the standard A, B, C, D, F grades. Students grade themselves on work habits, social development, and personal development.

School officials review each application, rejecting those they feel would lead to disruption within the school. Discipline is enforced each school day, however, students can earn extra break time and the privilege of leaving their work table through proper behavior.

The typical day starts with the pledge to the flag, a Bible reading, and the singing of a hymn. "We felt this was needed," Principal Feld says. "It's just another program of the church."

"We have Sunday School and now we have Monday School," he says.

Ambitious is the best way to describe the program which already offers programs for kindergarten through 12th grade and is planning adding two years of college to the curriculum. The proposed new facility will include classrooms, administrative offices, a swimming pool, racquet ball court, cafeteria, gymnasium (with saunas and showers), teachers and students lounges, and a basketball court. One of the most dramatic features of the school will be the circular library with books mounted on the curving walls.

In one area, at least, there isn't much room for improvement—the Glades Day Gators have already reached the pinnacle of success by taking the state Class A high school football title in an emotional game at Baker last winter. The team had a 13-0 record.

Head football Coach Bryan Walker, the leader of the best Gator gridiron team in the school's short history, has assumed another position in addition to his regular duties—he will be Branyon's administrative assistant.

Glades Day's sports program continues to grow each year, Branyon said, with girls volleyball and basketball added in 1980.

Students from all over the Glades and beyond attend Glades Day Branyon said, pointing out that the school has pupils and bus routes in West Palm Beach, Wellington, Loxahatchie, Royal Palm Beach, Fox Trail, Clewiston, Lake Harbor and Canal Point, as well as Belle Glade and Pahokee.

Beginning with an enrollment of less than 100 and only three teachers 16 years ago, Glades Day School has come a long way since 1965. In 1969, Glades Day was accredited by the Florida Council of Independent Schools and the Florida Kindergarten Council.

The school's first high school class graduated in 1971 and the Belle Glade school site was purchased in the same year.

Four new teachers come to Glades Day this year: Jack Hopler comes to the Glades from Lake Worth's Sacred Heart Catholic School, where he was physical education teacher.

With a B.S. from East Stroudsburg State in Pennsylvania, Hopler will be a P.E. teacher as well as junior varsity football and basketball coach.

Former teaching assistant Judy Schiele will teach secondary English this year, after receiving her B.S. from Florida Atlantic University.

Joan Weiser will teach in the elementary school after teaching for three years in Tampa and Clewiston. She has a B.A. from the University of Florida.

*Antonia Antonik, formerly employed at Lake Shore Elementary and Middle Schools, will become a reading specialist. She has a B.S. from Palm Beach State College and a M.S. from Nova University.

Glades Day School is a non-profit organization with no other affiliation.

"Our goal is excellence in education," says Principal Arvine Bell. "We consider ourselves a strong, academic school. It means homework."
Bible study is part of the curriculum. "We teach Bible to every student every day. We do not have to apologize for the Christian part of our education. We are not being pious. This is just part of our academic," she said.

Christian Day students start to school Aug. 24. Bus service brings students from Pahokee, Canal Point, South Bay and Belle Glade to the school, which was founded in 1989 and is the oldest private school in Belle Glade.
Christian Day has day care facilities for 2 1/2 year old students, as well as kindergarten children, and students through 12th grade.

An emphasis on music which the school hasn't had in the past will be offered this year because of new staff additions.
The school has recently renovated its day care facility, is now renovating its library, and is in the process of cleaning the entire building.

CONSTANT improvement of all facets of Lakeshore Middle School has been Principal Ed Foley's goal during the past three years.

Under the Florida State Student Assessment Program, composite scores improved from 39 percent to 55 percent in reading, from 54 percent to 68 percent in writing, and from 51 percent to 63 percent in mathematics in three years.

One of the ways the school has improved its academic performance is through the "Pinto Program," a machine math program which fills a compensatory need. "They can pick the program they want and work at their own speed," he said.

 Central Community High School is the grand daddy of local high schools.

It may not be the oldest (having been born in 1970 after students from Lakeshore High School and Belle Glade High School were merged into one), but it is the largest.

When the school was just one year old, it went on to win the State Class 3A Football championship.

It hasn't had to apologize since and is a perennial powerhouse on the gridiron, the basketball court, and the track.

Glades Central also offers a full academic program for both average and advanced students. Academics are supplemented with a vocational program. Students may take vocational courses both at Glades Central and at West Tech.

Other offerings include special education and a compensatory education program.

Students come from a huge area of western Palm Beach County, including Ritz Camp on the Hendry County line and near Andy Town on the southern fringe of the county.

During the summer, the gymnasium floor was replaced. A full-scale interior and exterior painting program is underway.

Registration began Tuesday, Aug. 18. Seniors and special education students were to register Tuesday morning, juniors were to register Tuesday afternoon, sophomores were to register Wednesday morning, and freshmen were to register Wednesday afternoon.

New students and students who missed their scheduled registration period were to register Thursday, Aug. 20.

Assistant Principal Hugh Brady said he expected 1,000 students to register during the week. A college system is used, wherein the student creates his own schedule.

Students who fail to register and show up for the first day of class Monday, Aug. 24, will be registered and sent home. When they return to school Tuesday, Aug. 25, their schedule will be ready for them, having been printed out overnight by computer.

Glades Central has new school hours this year: 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. School starts 45 minutes earlier than in the past and lets out an hour earlier.

Breakfast will be served at the school at 7:30 a.m. There is no over-crowding problem at the school, but portable classrooms are utilized.

Among Principals Dr. Effie Grear's top administrators are Assistant Principals Hugh Brady and Gene Campbell, Deane Wayne Tullos, Willie McDonald, and Lois Lewis, and Guidance Counselors Reginald Murray, Bob Rettig, and Elizabeth Kosen. Ben McCoy is the football coach and George Mattes is the basketball coach.

Assistant Principal Brady is located on the Glades Central Annex, which includes grades nine and 10. Assistant Principal Gene Campbell is located on the main campus, which includes grades 11 and 12.

New requirement for first grade

Children ready to start the first grade in September 1982 in Florida's public schools will not be admitted unless they have successfully completed kindergarten.

Children may enroll in kindergarten if they will be five on or before Nov. 1. To be eligible for first grade enrollment this year, they must be six on or before Sept. 1. However, they may be enrolled if they will be six on or before Dec. 31, and have passed a State Read Test.

Parents wishing to enroll a child in any grade are to report to the office of the school serving their home area. They are to provide the student's birth certificate and a transfer slip or report card from the student's previous school.

Pahokee Elementary School, one of the county's most improved schools in the area of national test scores for 1980, was ranked one of the county's top schools in the area of academic achievement if Dr. Blumberg has his way about things.

A principal proud of his school's accomplishments, staff and students, the "Little Devils" have another good year lined up for them by Dr. Blumberg.

Assisting Dr. Blumberg with the administrative duties at the school is Assistant Principal Amos Hawkins.

Joining the staff will be new teachers, Sandy Simonson, Helen Kelsey and Kathy Thompson.

Pahokee Elementary School serves students from kindergarten through fourth grade, and approximately 100 migrant three and four year-olds are expected to enroll in the pre-kindergarten program.

Although kindergarten attendance will not be required for students living in Palm Beach County until 1982, Dr. Blumberg said all students who are to enroll in first grade next year, must have attended kindergarten in 1980.

Dr. Blumberg said school hours for teachers will be from 7:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 8:10 a.m. to 2:10 p.m., for students.

Breakfast and lunch will be served in the school cafeteria daily.

Greeting the students this year will be new playground equipment.

Upcoming special events at the school include: open house, homecoming, Halloween, Thanksgiving and Christmas programs.

Dr. Blumberg said it is a tradition for parents to eat lunch with their children several days prior to Thanksgiving.

Registration will be held Thursday, Aug. 20, all day and all new students entering Palm Beach County Schools for the first time are required to provide a birth certificate, evidence of completed immunization and a medical examination at the time of entry.

Immunizations required are diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, rubella, mumps and measles. Physical examinations must have been completed within 12 months prior to school entry.

Forms to certify completion of exam are available from physicians or from the local health department.

Emphasis is placed on reading and math as part of the unified curriculum implemented by the Palm Beach County School Board in 1980.

Glade View has implemented the PREP program for kindergarten and first grade. It is geared towards identifying existing and potential learning problems in children early, and to provide an individualized instructional program based on each child's needs, talents, interests, and abilities.

Glade View support programs include Title I, and Language Arts Migrant Tutorial, which provide additional individualized instruction for children.

One SLD class and one EMH class serve students identified for these programs. The Bilingual Program serves approximately 33 limited and non-English speaking students with two bilingual teachers.

Assisting Stephens at Glade View is Assistant Principal Naomi Todd. School registration will be held Thursday, Aug. 20, from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Stephens said all new students entering PBC Schools for the first time are required to provide evidence of completed immunization and a medical examination at the time of entry. Parents must also supply a copy of the student's birth certificate.

School hours for Glade View will be from 8:10 a.m. to 2:10 p.m. for students. The cafeteria will serve daily, breakfast and lunch.

Stephens said Open House and a number of Holiday programs will be held at the school during the school year and parents will be advised of all upcoming events.

“Why spend money on electricity when you could spend it on something else?”

Watt-Wise Living™ says. Just ask Mr. and Mrs. Renaud of West Palm Beach. They've been saving on their electric bill ever since they moved into their new home. Their average monthly bills in their centrally air conditioned four-bedroom home have been around $60 in the summer months, $65 in winter.

What's Watt-Wise Living? It's a combination of features that meet FPL's energy-saving standards and can be easily included in the construction of a new home. Over a period of years they can save you substantially more than they cost. Naturally, how much you save will depend on your lifestyle and conservation efforts.

Watt-Wise™ homes have cost-saving features like extra ceiling and wall insulation, solar or heat-recovery units for water heating, a higher-efficiency air conditioner or heat pump. Power savers like fluorescent lighting and a microwave oven, and thermally efficient windows and doors, with glass areas planned to minimize heat build-up.

Today, there are many ways to save on electricity without giving up comfort. You'll find them in FPL's Watt-Wise Living Program. Today, it's one of the wisest investments you could make. Stop by your local FPL office and pick up a free brochure.
